Amsteur Thestricals. Yesterday evening the Band Amateurs gave a representation at the Garrison Theatre before a crowded and we may may fashionable house. is The pieces were the burlesque "Ernani" and the farce of " A Bace for a Widow," and exceedingly well they were played, the dresses were good and very correct, and many little stage devices which most amateurs forget were in this instance attended to. Another thing with which we were much pleased, was the capital manner in which the souge and choruses were erecuted. Altogether, it was a great success, and the Band Amatours may be complimented for the perfect manner in which they managed things, behind the scenes yester, lay evening. They play again this evening, when we wish them every success.

The American Bar at the New Hotel. This afternion there will be thrown open to the public of Hongkong what may not only be tion the public of Hongkong what may not only be tasi- termed a novelty, in the atrictest sense of the word, but also an institution that may be cousidered to mark another step in the advance made towards the civilization of this little colony. A first class public Bar room, on the American plan is something Hongkong bas never yet possessed, but thanks to the new ition Hotel and its enterprising directors, we shall the no longer be a step behind any other community in the world on the important subject of "drinks" Of the many institutions quite peculiar to the Americans, and drinks are an institution, especially in a climate like Hongkong; the art of concocling, prehints paring, and serving, not only "cucktails," but lines numerous other "beverages," is one to which d for they have paid some considerable attention ideed, and so to speak, reduced to a science. Not social and so to speak, reduced to a science. but for every intermediate hour of the day, for every condition of the system, for all kinds of t constitutions, for every variety of tasts, there is a separate and appropriate drink; in fact, there is no condition of either time, temperature, body, or intellect for which an accomplished American barkeeper cannot suggest a proper and appropriate beverage. With very few exceptions, a real American bar is not to be found anywhere out of the United States, but the bar of the New Hotel, with all its fittings and paraphernalia, was purchased in San Francisco, and is complete in every respect. Mahogany, black walnut, rosewood.

glass and silver ware, of every design and shape, contribute to the perfection of the apparatus, while bottles, with five hundred different shapes and labels, demi-johns, and casks supply the materials required. Lastly, the skill of an adept. in the art, turns you out the perfect drink.
At two o'clock, we understand, the new bar is to be inaugurated, and time would fail to enumerate all the various beverages that will then be in readiness for a thirsty public who may bo desirous of "taking the oath."
